Performance Notes

The beautiful plainchant Salve Mater Misericordiae was the musical inspiration for this piece. The text is based on the Magnificat from the Gospel of Luke (Luke 1:46–55), suggesting that this piece is most appropriate for any of the feasts of Mary. As mentioned earlier, there are three of these that fall within the Advent/Christmas season. It is set in refrain-verse form, making it especially appropriate for assembly use and very useful as a Communion processional piece.

You will notice on the recording that the first refrain has a chant-like quality. It is not meant to be strictly metered. But at the end of the first refrain the meter changes to 4/4 and the tempo changes. At this point the accompaniment becomes much more fluid. It is this flowing, eighth note accompaniment that forms the foundation of the piece. The singing is like a ship that is being supported by the moving waves of notes by the keyboard or guitar. If the verses are sung by a choir in parts, it is important that the singing continues to flow and does not become rigid and plodding.

Parts for solo cello and violins are in the Instrument Packet (OCP 70428).
